Listing notes

The screenshot shows the User Notepad interface. At the top, there is a quota bar labeled 'quota' with a red segment and '5%' next to it. Below this is a search bar with the placeholder text '[Write a note]' and a 'find' button. A table lists the notes:

del	Name	Last Modified	Size
<input type="checkbox"/>	BuenEstilo (save)	26/Mar [01:43 GMT]	734 b
<input type="checkbox"/>	HomePage (save)	26/Mar [01:40 GMT]	621 b

Below the table, it says 'Page: 1/1' and a '1' with a underline. At the bottom, there is an 'Upload file' section with a text input field, a 'Browse...' button, and an 'upload' button.

From this screen notes can be removed, notes can be read (clicking the name), notes can be saved to disk or deleted. A find feature is provided to search for notes containing some text. A note can also be uploaded from the local disk using the upload box at the bottom. Note that user notes are always stored in the database. The quota is configured as the same quota used for user files (see user files next)

"Young writers often suppose that style is a garnish for the meat of prose, a sauce by which a dull dish is made palatable. Style has no such separate entity; it is nondetachable, unfilterable. The beginner should approach style warily, realizing that it is himself he is approaching, no other; and he should begin by turning resolutely away from all devices that are popularly believed to indicate style--all mannerisms, tricks, adornments. The approach to style is by way of plainness, simplicity, orderliness, sincerity."

--Strunk y White, "Los elementos del estilo"

"And thus an American textbook, typical required reading for 10th-grade English students, unknowingly extols some virtues of WabiSabi"

This is how notes are displayed, note that you can read a note as normal text or as a Wiki page making wiki markup being interpreted.
