Table of Contents

Table of contents usually includes the titles and sub-title (headers) to be used like chapter on page where the content is separated in paragraph or sections.

There are many different tools in Tiki related to Table of content;

- AutoToc, to allow adding an automatic Table Of Contents to Wiki page (global and per page setting)
- Maketoc, used to automatically generate a table of contents from the headings on a page.
- TOC, available if the Wiki Structure feature is enabled to display a table of contents based on all the element of a structure/document. (ex.: a book)

Some of them have an inline plugin and there are also setting related to Table Of Contents at the Tiki Control Panel Print.

See: Navigation Overview, AutoToc, Maketoc or PluginToc for how to include a table of contents in a page.

Related pages

- Auto TOC
- PluginToc
- Wiki-Syntax Lists
- Maketoc

Alias

- table of content
- Automatic Table of Contents

Note: something wrong with this last alias. Kept for debugging purposes