

Add a New Group tab

Overview

Add a new user group

Related Topics

- reference

To Access

From the Admin Group page, click the Add a New Group tab.

Note

Click the add button to create the new group.

The screenshot shows the 'Add a New Group' form. It has a 'Group:' text input, a 'Description:' text area, and a section for 'Inherit permissions directly from following groups.' with a dropdown menu containing 'Admins', 'Anonymous', and 'Registered'. Below this is a 'Tip' box: 'Use Ctrl+Click to select multiple options'. There are two checkboxes: 'Also inheriting permissions from the following groups (indirect inheritance through the groups selected above)' and 'User can assign to the group himself'. A 'Users are automatically unassigned from the group after' section has a 'Days' input field with the text '0 or empty for never'. A text field for an email address pattern is shown with examples: 'Example: /@tw.org$/' and 'Example: /@(tw.org$)|(tw.com$)/'. An 'Add' button is at the bottom right.

Setting	Description	Default
Group	Group name
Description	Group description
Inherit permissions directly from following groups	Inherit permissions from selected groups
User can assign to the group himself	Enable user self-assignment to groups
Users are automatically assigned at registration in the group if their emails match the pattern	Email address pattern matching for automatic group assignment

Unable to load the jQuery Sortable Tables feature.

