External Wikis

External Wiki feature is used to make linking to other Tiki, websites topics easier. Using it you will be able to reuse with minimum work a connection (through a link) to your "network" of Tikis and regularly used websites.

Some examples:

The string on the left are the wikilink or the link shorthand. tw for tiki.org, dev for dev.tiki.org, wq for wikiquote, wd for wiktionary, lq for linuxquestions, wp for wikipedia.

External wiki and site samples set at Doc tw https://tiki.org/$page dev https://dev.tiki.org/$page wq https://en.wikiquote.org/wiki/$page wd https://en.wiktionary.org/wiki/$page lq https://wiki.linuxquestions.org/wiki/$page wp https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/$page

Simple linkeage

To make a link to any external wiki or site above on this site you can use the internal wiki double round brackets syntax with a prefix as "dev:" inside. For instance, to make a link to https://dev.tiki.org/Get-code

you could use:

((dev:Get-code))

And it would produce this link:

Get-code

Changing the string displayed

It is possible to use a different string of sentence that the page name to create a more descriptive link. Following the example above we want to improve the information the visitor will see. "Get-code" is quite short, "Get-code and join Tiki dev team" is already more explicit.
you could use:

((dev:Download|Get-code and join Tiki dev team))

And it would produce this link:

Get-code and join Tiki dev team

Insert an external wiki reference

You can do that through the link at "Admin > External wikis", that will lead you to tiki-admin_external_wikis.php:

List external wiki references

From the same tiki-admin_external_wikis.php you can see the list of external wiki references you already introduce them and edit or delete any of them. Below you can see, as a reference, the list of external wikis that we have defined in http://doc.tiki.org :
