Stop changing base structure

Bryan you do a great work. But please do not change the base structure. You can add things, but people need a stable reference to start working, and you can't work alone. Please take in account that you are not alone and right now we need to manage efforts from many people and not only one.

That is why a common structure was required. But changing pages classification, names, everything at same time, is rather a blocking factor. If it is required absolutely I can understand, but please we are hurried by time and getting more hands will be more efficient than distilling the perfect solution for ages.
